

Getting to automatica

The Messe München trade-fair center in the heart of Europe has an outstanding transportation infrastructure. Whether you are traveling to the fair by plane, train or automobile: automatica at the Messe München trade-fair center is easy to reach no matter how you travel.

By car

The trade-fair center is located directly on the A 94 motorway in eastern Munich. A dynamic traffic guidance system will guide you directly to automatica.

➤ Getting there by car

Taking public transportation

When you visit automatica, disembark at “Messestadt West” station. The trade-fair center has two subway stations on the U2 subway line.

➤ Getting there with public transportation

By plane

The second-largest airport in Germany guarantees you excellent continental and intercontinental connections. Special fares are available for automatica.

➤ Getting there by plane

→ Lufthansa special

→ Shuttle bus to/from Munich airport

By train

Taking the train to the fair is convenient and eco-friendly—and special fares are available. It takes about 20 minutes to get from “Hauptbahnhof” to automatica

➤ Getting there by train

→ Deutsche Bahn special offer