

Investors' Day: Finance Meets Robotics and Automation

Robotics and automation are among the largest growth industries. What are the investment opportunities? The Investors' Day "Finance Meets Robotics and Automation", an event by EUnited Robotics (European Robotics Association), was aimed at international investors, financial analysts, and equity investment companies who are looking to step up their activities in this market.

The robotics and automation domain remains dynamic as a result of continuous technological innovation and expansion into new areas of application, creating unabated growth. Consequently, it is increasingly getting attention from the financial sector.

The Investor's Day "Finance Meets Robotics and Automation" by EUnited Robotics at automatica offered a unique opportunity to tap into this market. The event was aimed at financial analysts and researchers, representatives of equity investment companies, banks, investors, entrepreneurs, and individual investors.

This was the ideal environment to set up your market participation through knowledge sharing and networking.

Cooperation partner

